Task Coach Crack +

Task Coach represents a handy program that you can use to keep track of your goals and daily tasks. The interface of the application is quite simple and intuitive. To get started, you can create a new task. So, you can give it a subject, description and priority, mark dates (planned start, due, actual start and completion dates, reminder, recurrence) and set the completed percentage. In addition, you can create subitems or tasks from template, edit or delete existing tasks, mark items as active, inactive or completed, start tracking effort and use a search function. Furthermore, you can specify budget details (e.g. time spent, budget left, hourly or fixed fee, revenue), create a new effort task, take notes, add attachments, as well as change the foreground and background colors, font and icon. Moreover, you can create new categories and subcategories, merge files with different tasks, import and edit templates, import CSV and TXT files, export HTML, CSV, iCalendar and TXT files, use the undo and redo functions, view statistics, a square map, timeline, calendar and others, sort tasks, send items via email, and more. Task Coach runs on a moderate amount of system resources, contains a comprehensive help file along with daily tips, and didn't cause us any issues during our tests. On the other hand, the program could had been a little bit simplified because sometimes it's slightly difficult to keep track of its features. Even so, we strongly recommend Task Coach to all users. What's New In?

Task Coach is the easiest to use project management application for your home, office or online business. It lets you create, edit, edit, move and delete tasks with a simple point and click interface. It's suitable for home and small business users who need to keep their projects organized, assign them to the right team member, keep track of their progress and get real time statistics. You can even assign a billable hourly rate, assign fixed amounts, specify your own holiday, set the priority and due date of your task and export your task list to a calendar to keep track of your time off! If you're a home business owner, you can use the same application to keep track of your home business projects and help you to manage your time effectively. It's perfect for you to schedule your time as you need it. Features: 1. Create and Manage Your Projects First, you can use Task Coach to create, edit, move and delete your project and subprojects. You can assign one or more people to work on your project, specify the project subject, set the project priority, assign one or more dates for project start and due dates, and let your project move forward in the background. Also, you can add your business hours as a record in your project, or set project recurrence, and let your project move forward with a reminder on your dates. If you're not using your own computer, you can also use the app to keep your project list organized on the go. 2. Managing Projects When you're finished with your task, you can go back and edit your project as many times as you want, you can move tasks to different project or subproject, and you can assign any date for task due date and recurrence. You can even assign a fixed amount or hourly rate to your task to let it move forward at your own pace. 3. View Statistics As you're working on your project, you can see your task statistics such as progress, percent, date range and how many times you've changed your project status. 4. Assign Tasks If you're using Task Coach for the first time, you can set up all your task details and deadlines just once. From now on, you can assign any tasks, make updates to your project list and move them around as you want. 5. Export Tasks You can export your task list to a calendar as a simple, real-time task list, an HTML project file, a CSV, TXT and iCalendar file so that you can create your own mobile calendar! 6. New Features - Split and Merge Tasks 7. Keep Your Project List Organized If you're using
