) It is a 2009 Indian Hindi language sports film directed by Anurag Singh and produced by Aditya Chopra and directed by Yash Raj. The film takes place in the province of Jammu and Kashmir and tells about the life of a 10-grader Mathav, a student of a Buddhist college, and an 11-year-old girl Kallai. The film is part of a campaign to announce the support of the government of Jammu and Kashmir for Pakistan's actions against Indian separatists. The two lead roles are Libi Singh and Malhal Raja (their duet was recognized as a breakthrough in Bollywood). The film follows the lives of two 17-year-old boys who decide to work together as an exchange student at a medical college in the Indian city of Haryana. The story is shown through the prism of two different generations. While Mathav is initially optimistic about his decision to leave his native village and start living in India, he soon finds that his life has become very confusing after he met Kalla, one of the best students and the most popular girl in college. . The more he learns, the more his concern for the future of India is revealed. According to

Singh, who is called the Indian Anita Blake, this film is not an attempt to create an artistic picture, but "shows reality through the eyes of the younger generation." The second part of the film, which tells about Callana's early years in college, is devoted to her relationship with a childhood friend. And although "Fourteen Year Old Business Woman" tells about the difficult life of a girl, it is often emphasized that her existence is filled with love. In the end, after much thought, problems and battles, Kallae manages to achieve her goal and become the kept businessman, and this eccentric and extravagant rich playboy is her husband.
